WAR CLOUD LOOMS

Impending Conflict Between Central American States.

ALL MAY BECOME INVOLVED

State Department at Washington Is Surprised to Hear News that Hostilities May Again Be Resumed in Central America.

Washington, Aug. 17.—The news from Nicaragua of an impending conflict between all of the Central American states except Costa Rica was received here with surprise and incredulity, for up to this moment all of the advices from that quarter of the world which have reached Washington were to the effect that the asperities caused by the last Nicaraguan attack upon Acajutla, Salvador, has been smoothed down under the combined influence of the governments of Mexico and America.

Washington Expected Conference.

Indeed, it was the belief of the state department officials here that arrangements were about to be perfected for a conference in Washington next fall or winter of delegations from the Central American states, the only obstacle being the reluctance of each of the parties to taking the initiative in asking for the conference.

Wednesday the state departmnet received a cablegram from American Minister Lee, at Guatemala City, stating that Guillermo Aguirre, the minister of finance of Guatemala, accompanied by Senor Lainfiesta and another official, had just left that city for the City of Mexico for the purpose of meeting Secretary Root upon his approaching visit there. It is understood this Guatemalan delegation is clothed with full power to represent their government in the effort to improve the relations between Guatemala and Mexico, which have not yet recovered from the strain to which they were subjected as the result of the refusal of President Cabrera to surrender to Mexico for trial the alleged instigators of the assassination of the late General Barillas.

Root's Visit to Mexico.

All official statements relative to Secretary Root's projected trip have been to the effect that it is to be absolutely unconnected with politics, but it is scarcely expected he would refuse to meet the Guatemalan delegation, in view of his freely expressed desire to use his best efforts to preserve the peace in the south. For the same reason, if the meeting takes place, and was has not in the meantime broken out between the Central American states, it is probable that Secretary Root would feel it his duty to pass beyond the simple question of the relations between Guatemlaa and Mexico and endeavor to impress upon the delegations the wisdom of conserving the peace with their other neighbors.

TELEGRAPHERS' STRIKC.

Railroad Telegraphers Will Not Be Called ut.

Chicago, Aug. 17.—At a conference held Thursday night between President S. J. Small of the Telegraphers' union of America; Secretary Russell, President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, and several other labor leaders, it was decided definitely that there should be no strike of the 47,000 railroad telegraphers of the United States.

These operators will be called upon shortly to contribute a strike fund of $50,000. Two of their general officers attended the meeting.

Found Hanging to a Bed Post.

Danville, Ky., Aug. 17—Jane Sluggins, an old negro woman, was found dead in her room with many evidences of foul play. There were marks on her throat that indicated she had been choked to death, and that afterward her body was suspended from the top of a two bedpost by means of some strips of bed clothing. It is thought the old woman was murdered in order to secur esome money which she was supposed to have hidden in the house.

PAYS DEATH PENALTY.

Georgia Negro Hanged For Outrage on White Girl.

Cuthbert, Ga., Aug. 17—Will Price commonly known as "Buster," a negro man about forty years old, was hanged here Tuesday for the crime of rape, committed upon the person of Sarah Burks, a white girl about 14 years old, on July 6, about 6 miles southeast of Cuthbert.

Although the execution was private, there were several hundred people here from all sections of the county, being attracted through mere curiosity, to hear the condemned man's last talk or to get a glimpse of his remains after execution. Only a very limited number were permitted by the sheriff to witness the execution.

Price's crime, according to the evidence given at a special term of Randolph superior court, called for the purpose of passing upon his and other crimes, was a most atrocious one.

Sarah Burks and her little brother, 10 years old, had come to Cuthbert on Saturday and had left town about 4 o'clock in the afternoon for their home, 6 miles in the country.

They were walking and Price, who was in a buggy with another negro, passed them, leading his mule behind the buggy. Later Price met them in the road, after leaving the negro in the buggy. He made some remarks to the girl and brother as he passed, and later returned, when he was said to have made a most fiendish and brutal attack upon the girl. She being almost a child, and her brother a child, were unable to resist his attack, her arms being pinioned under her body. Her little brother came to her rescue, but he was powerless in making his blows effective. The assault was at a point remote from houses, and as she was dragged from the road her cries were not heard, on account of the distance from the nearest house.

Later the girl and her brother went to her home, about a mile from the place of assault, and communicated what had happened to her mother.

A posse of citizens of the neighborhood soon gathered. The identification of Price being conclusive, a warrant was sworn out and later he was arrested by Sheriff Bynum and brought to pail.

Judge Worrill called a special term of court, a bill was found, counsel assigned and a full and fair trial afforded the negro. The jury found him guilty, and he paid the penalty.

GERMAN TARIFF AGREEMENT.

May Go Into Courts for a Judicial Decision as to Validity.

New York, Aug. 17—The German tariff agreement, it is now probable, will be taken into the courts for a judicial decision as to its validity.

This action is likely as the result of a decision by the general appraisers here sustaining the advanced value on an importation of chocolate from Germany. Their decision was based on and followed the decision of the supreme court of the United States in the Passavant case.

It is understood the importers will appeal on the strength of the Iaman tariff pact, a proceeding that is desired by all importers, as they wish to obtain a judicial ruling.

Heir Is Born to Krupp Fortune.

Kell, Germany, Aug. 17.—There was a holiday at the Krupp shipbuilding works here Thursday with a distribution of money to all the work men in celebration of the birth of a son and heir to Herr and Frau Krupp von Bohlen und Halbach. At Essen the birth of the heir was also celebrated. The various Krupp works, including those at Balboa, employ 61,000 persons. They recently have been reconverted from a temporary stock company into a firm under Frau Krupp von Bohlen und Halbach's private ownership.

Two Bothers Drown.

Carlisle, Ky., Aug. 17.—While in bathing at Abner's mill Frank and Charles Bryant, brothers, aged 14 and 16, were drowned. The younger boy was seized with cramps and the other undertook to rescue him, but lost his own life. Their bodies were recovered by persons who witnessed the drowning, but reached the spote too late to be of assistance.

TRENTON SCHOOL TO BE FINE BUILDING

Work Already Begun, and Will be Rapidly Pushed.

LIVINGSTON GETS CONTRACT.

He Was the Lowest Bidder, and Proposes to Give the People of Trenton District a Building of Which They May Well Feel Proud.

The contract for the elegant new school building at Trenton has been let, and George W. Livingston, well known throughout the West End, has secured the job, he being the lowest and best bidder, according to the manner in which the bids were figured by the board of trustees of that district.

To begin with, the board may expect a good job, as Mr. Livingston is regarded not only as a competent mechanic but a reliable man, a man able and willing to comply with the plans and specifications in a faithful and reliable manner.

This building, when completed, will be the most up-to-date school building in the West End. It was designed and planned after modern ideas, with a view to the rapidly growing Trenton section, and in all will be a credit, not only to the district, but to the educational interests of the county.

Contractor Livingston went at once to work in the matter of ordering material, etc., and will push the work as rapidly as it is possible to do a satisfactory job.

The building will be one of the most commodious in that section of the county when completed, and the enterprising people of Trenton district to be congratulated.

A PLEASANT OCCASION.

Miss Bessie and Earl Kelley Entertain a Number of Friends.

One of the most enjoyable social functions of the season was the party given by Miss Bessie and Earl Kelley, complimentary to their young friends, at the home of their parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Kelley, 500 South Arredondo street, Thursday evening. There were about forty present, and those who attended thoroughly enjoyed the evening.

The feature of the evening was the game of Prophecy. Numerous pieces in the form of clover leaves were cut out and hand painted, and each guest was required to prophesy as to the future of another of the opposite sex.

During the evening Misses Leonora Vidal, Ila Eddins and others performed on the piano, and Miss Rosabel Pedrick favored the guests with some sweet vocal selections.

Delicious refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

The home was attractively decorated with Japanese lanterns, suspended from the porches, with floral decorations on the interior.

At a late hour the guests departed, with an expression of many thanks to the clever entertainers for the pleasure of the evening.

Sea Island Cotton.

Savannah, Ga., August 17.—The sea island market was inactive during the past week, no sales being reported. Quotations are nominal in the absence of business. Some little uneasiness is felt by the trade over reports of shedding on account of frequent showers recently, with intermissions of hot sunshine, causing the fruit to drop. As yet results have not been serious, but the situation may easily become so.

PICNIC DID NOT OCCUR.

Young People of Waldo Were Anticipating a Good Time.

The young people of Waldo were anticipating a picnic and big time generally on Friday, and had made elaborate preparations for the same, so it is reported, but owing to the illness of one of the young men, who was a prime mover in the matter, the function has been postponed until a date which will be announced later.

The young people of Waldo are up-to-date when it comes to anything, and picnics and fish frys are their specialties. They had extended invitations to a party of Savannah young people who are spending their vacation at Cedar Key, to join them. The Savannah people did go, but upon their arrival learned of the postponement and the reason, and were in hearty sympathy with the ejune.

It is expected, however, to hold this picnic at an early date, as friends of the young man who is ill expect him to recover shortly.

"MEMBRINO FRANK", SOLD.

One of the Finest Colts in Florida Changed Hands Saturday.

There was an important deal in horseflesh on Saturday, when George Tayler of Palmer, superintendent of the Gainesville Peach Orchard Co., sold to Ira J. Carter of Newberry "Membrino Frank," one of the finest colts in the State, and a prize winner at the Florida State Fair in Tampa last year.

The colt is one of the best disposition, one of the fastest, and, in all, one of the best in Florida, and had many admirers at Tampa among the horsemen during the fair.

Mr. Carter, who is a fine judge of horseflesh, has been on a "trade" with Mr. Tayler for some time for this valuable animal, and the matter finally came to a head Saturday, when Mr. Carter paid the price, tied a halter around the animal's neck, and drove some towards Newberry. His friends will congratulate him upon his purchase.

TRENTON ON A BOOM.

New School House, Store and Residences are Being Erected.

The hustling town of Trenton, located in the West End a few miles from the old Suwannee, made famous by song and history, is forging ahead with surprising rapidity, which means that her enterprising citizens are by no means asleep.

W. H. Jones, one of the Trenton hustlers, was in the city Friday. He states that work is progressing finely on the new school building, that J. A. Durrance of Chiefland is erecting a new and commodious store, and that several residences are going up.

In all, Trenton is growing fast, and is yet destined to become one of the leading towns of the county, since the people enjoy the advantage of railroad facilities.

WILL ERECT A CHURCH.

Christian Congregations of West End Have Effected Combination.

The congregations of the Church of Christ of Trenton and Jennings Lake sections have combined and decided to erect a neat and commodious church edifice in Trenton, where all may worship together.

There are a great many members of the Church of Christ, commonly known as the Christian Church, in the section including the towns of Trenton and Jennings Lake, and it is their purpose to have erected a church which will prove a credit to them.

Mr. Gunter Here.

Among the visitors to Gainesville is Benjamin Gunter of Pierson, a graduate of the University of Florida at the last session of that institution.

Mr. Gunter is a graduate of civil engineering, and, it is learned, has been assigned to duty with the geological survey of Florida, established by the last Legislature. It is understood that work will begin on this survey within a short time.

SHEPPARD THE MAN WITH THE LONG STICK

He Will Capture the U. S. Judgeship for Northern District.

THAT IS MR. CHUBB'S OPINION.

This Distinguished Republican Has Just Returned From an Important Conference in Washington, and Knows What He is Talking About.

Hon. Henry S. Chubb, register of the United States land office, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, and one of the most influential Republicans in the State, has returned from Washington, where a few days ago he was called, with Hon. R. Coombs of Apalachicola, National Committeeman, to confer with "the powers that be" in reference to some important matters, the inference being the United States judgeship for the Northern District of Florida, the same being made vacant by the recent death of Judge Swayne.

Col. Chubb granted an audience to this representative in his private office of the land office, and seemed in a charming that broad and contentment which always characterizes him when something of importance to the party nature is about to happen to the interests of the Republican organization of Florida.

Sheppard Will be Man.

When asked as to who would be appointed to the United States judgeship by the President, Col. Chubb replied:

"I am positively confident of Hon. Sheppard's appointment. Inasmuch as he is a native Floridian, a lawyer, a man of well-trained mind, ability and judgment, and having the endorsement of eighty per cent. of the bar of the Northern District, as well as the representative business interests of the state as a rule, the Governor and leading state officials, there is every reason, with such endorsements supported by the wishes of the people, why the appointment should not fall to Mr. Sheppard.

No Democratic Opposition.

"There is practically no opposition Mr. Sheppard is to contend with comes from any district or people. Even the Jacksonville lawyers would make such a good position that would be even willing to leave the beautiful city, with its delightful and beautiful surroundings in which Floridians delight to live."

Will Go to Washington.

Speaking of the weather in the capital, Colonel Chubb said that Washington stood around 100. "The weather was extreme, and there were no comforts, night or day," he said. "Even in the average temperature in summer, it will not be long before Washington will retain a desirable resort for our Northern people. It is needless for me to add that I was glad to get back home in the land of flowers once."

A FINE DOG.

Capt. A. M. Dell Receives a Fine Pointer from Illinois.

Capt. J. Manly Dell, who is one of the most enthusiastic bird dog fanciers in the State, is happy over the possession of a pointer pup with a pedigree that will bear inspection.

The dog, Hard's Hard Cash, was shipped from J. M. Baird, Olney, Ill., and arrived by express Thursday. His pedigree, which will be of interest to dog fanciers everywhere, is as follows:

"Hard's Hard Cash, pointer, whelped December 2, 1906. Sired by Hard Work, dam, Roneyrano. Hard Cash dam, Young Jingo, dam, Bella Pointer. Roneyrano's sire was King Cyrano, dam, Rosy Kent."

Captain Dell expects to bring his dog upon the street for the inspection and admiration of sportsmen as soon as the pup is sufficiently rested from his long journey.

For an Impaired Appetite.

To improve the appetite and strengthen the digestion try a few doses of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. Mr. J. H. Seitz of Detroit, Mich., says: "They restored my appetite when impaired, relieved a bloated feeling and caused a free and satisfactory movement of the bowels." Price, 25 cents. For sale by all druggists.

A Hair Dressing

Nearly every one likes a fine hair dressing. Something to make the hair more manageable; to keep it from being too rough, or from splitting at the ends. Something, too, that will feed the hair at the same time, a regular hair-food. Well-fed hair will be strong, and will remain where it belongs—on the head, not on the comb!

GAINESVILLE HAD A WALKOVER.

Lawtey Stars Couldn't Find Sheats and Made Many Costly Errors.

From Friday's Daily Sun:

Excellent twirling on the part of Sheats, of the Gainesville team, and nine costly errors made by the members of the Bradford County Stars, of Lawtey, caused the downfall of the latter team yesterday afternoon by a score on 9 and 0.

The game was well patronized by fans and fannabellies and Dr. Tison, the manager, was delighted. The boys from Lawtey played clean ball, that was absolutely devoid of rowdyism, but they could not put up the article delivered by the Oak Halls, and hence their defeat.

Sheats pitched an excellent game, having complete control of the sphere, and the visitors were at his mercy. In addition to this he secured a neat double and a single.

The work of Cragin at first was real league ball and the base running of S. Graham was good. Sheats struck out nine men and Perry has the same number to his credit. Sheats was found for four hits while the home team located Perry ten times.

W. R. McKinstry umpired the game and was called on for several close decisions.

HAD AN AWFUL TIME.

But Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy Cured Him.

It is with pleasure that I give you this unsolicited testimonial. About a year ago when I had a severe case of measles I got caught out in a hard rain and the measles settled in my stomach and bowels. I had an awful time and had it not been for the use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy I could not have possibly lived but a few hours longer, but thanks to this remedy I am now strong and well. I have written the above through simple gratitude and I shall always speak a good word for this remedy.—SAM H. GWIN, Concord, Ga. For sale by all druggists.

SEES A BIG CHANGE.

T. B. Folks Chased Deer on the Square Thirty-Four Years Ago.

T. B. Folks, wife and son, Fleming, of Newtown, Levy county, are among the visitors to the city, being guests of their sons, G. D. and Griffin Folks.

This is Mr. Folks' first visit to Gainesville for thirty-four long years, and it is not surprising to hear him remark that he notes a "great big change." When he left this town it was little more than a cross-roads trading point, where he and others were accustomed to chase deer and panther and other big game through the black-jacks, where the elegant court house and fine brick stores now stand.

Mr. Folks had heard of the wonderful growth of Gainesville, but entertained no idea of its broad scope, for in place of mud-holes and ponds he now sees elegantly paved streets and fine houses.

Children in Pain

Never cry as do children who are suffering from hunger. Such is the cause of all babies who cry and are treated for sickness, when they really are suffering from hunger. This is caused from their food not being assimilated but devoured by worms. A few doses of White's Cream Vermifuge will cause them to cease crying and begin to thrive at once. Give it a trial. Capt. F. A. Weeks has sold part interest in the steamer Alert to Mr. Renault of Waldo, and they will move the steamer on the Suwannee river. The Alert has been running on the lake here between Melrose and Waldo for more than twenty years, but recently the hyacinths have been so bad and the lake too low for navigation with any degree of certainty.

TO DRILL TWICE A WEEK.

The Gainesville Guards Getting Ready for the Encampment.

From this date until the time to go into the annual encampment Company H, Second Infantry, the Gainesville Guards, will hold regular drills twice each week, instead of once a week as heretofore. The drill nights will be Tuesday and Friday, and Lieutenant Shields Warren, who is in command of the company, owing to the absence of Captain Blanding, is particularly desirous of a large attendance at each drill. Lieutenant Warren is anxious to carry a crack company to camp, and, inasmuch as he is one of the most proficient military men and tacticians in the State Troops, he will no doubt be successful.

The troops will not mobolize this year as usual, but will be assigned to duty at coast defenses, to serve with the regular army troops. These coast defenses are located at Key West, Tampa and Pensacola.

The encampment will be held in October.

Remedy for Diarrhoea—Never Known to Fail.

"I want to say a few words for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I have used this preparation in my family for the past five years and have recommended it to a number of people in York county and have never known it to fail to effect a cure in any instance. I feel that I cannot say too much for the best remedy of the kind in the world."—S. JEMISON, Spring Grove, New York County, Pa. This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

Pomroy Scrugge Building.

Pomroy Scruggs of East Gainesville has decided to erect a new home, and has awarded the contract for same to August Wenske.

The material has been ordered, and as soon as same arrives work will begin. The work will be pushed as rapidly as possible, and Contractor Wenske declares this will be one of the neatest cottages in that section when completed.

In this connection, Mr. Wenske requests The Sun to state that he has again engaged in the general contracting business, and that he is prepared to give bond for the performance of all contracts which might be awarded him.

ROBERT A. TURNER.

Deserved Tribute to a Good and Noble Man.

Hon James E. Alexander of DeLand pays the following deserved tribute to the late Robert A. Turner of Alachua in a recent issue of The Volusia County Record:

Editor Record: I ask space in your paper that I may give a brief sketch of the life and character of my late friend Robert A. Turner, who passed away at his home at Alachua, Florida, July 18, 1907.

Bob Turner, as his many friends loved to call him, was the son of Mr. J. A. and Mrs. Annie M. Turner and was born in Edgefield, S. C., August 6, 1858. His parents moved to Florida from South Carolina when the subject of this sketch was a child, and settled at Providence, Bradford county. Upon reaching manhood he came to Volusia county and for a number of years resided at Enterprise, then the county seat of Volusia. Enterprise was at that time the prettiest and most thriving little town in Florida, being the head of navigation of the St. Johns river and the distributing point for all mail south on the East Coast. All residents of the East Coast section, including all tourists, had to pass through Enterprise. It was the Jacksonville of South Florida. This was in the early 80's. Politics was pretty hot in those days and Enterprise was controlled by a band of white Republicans from Henry county, Ind., the bitterest that ever struck Florida. The negroes being largely in the majority, were easily influenced and controlled by this Henry county contingent from Indiana.

Among the young Democrats living there at that time, in 1884, were Bob and Bill Dickins, Gus Willard, Bill and Jim Fitts, Bob Turner and Jim Alexander. They got together and run a young men's ticket for city offices, composed of the following: Jim Alexander for mayor, Bill Dickins and Gus Willard for aldermen, Bill Fitts for clerk and treasurer, and Bob Turner for marshal and collector, and after a hot contest, all were elected and they were happy days, happy days of the long ago. Bob Turner was also elected sheriff and was virtually sheriff, as Sheriff Cone lived 40 miles from the court house and was in feeble health. Times were different then from now. I never knew Bob Turner to hand cuff a prisoner. He carried one charged with murder to Manatee county, when Pine Level was the county seat. He and the prisoner occupied different rooms while en route to Manatee county. He controlled men by kindness. He was as true a friend and as brave a man as ever lived, and was the soul of honor, and his word was his bond. For a number of years he was associated with C. R. Rogers in surveying and civil engineering, and while thus engaged contracted rheumatism, which finally caused his death.

After spending about 15 years in Volusia county he returned to East Florida and settled at Alachua, Alachua county, in the cotton belt, where he owned and operated several cotton gins.

He married Miss Annie Weeks, the daughter of Jonathan and Mary Weeks. The Weeks' are among the most prominent and influential families in Florida. Their names appear in the constitutional convention of Florida and among her legislators. He leaves a wife and four children to mourn their loss, three daughters and a son, who have the deep sympathy of hundreds of his friends, who join in their sorrow and affliction. His only brother, Mr. J. R. Turner, is the present sheriff of Volusia county and has filled that responsible position for many years. He was buried in the old Newnansville cemetery, a beautiful and historic spot in Florida. In the campaign of 1904 I visited this place, where so many of Florida's noblest sons and fairest daughters are resting under the shade of the trees. Little did I then think that the true friend of my young manhood days was soon to join those who had crossed over to the great beyond. During President Cleveland's first administration, through the influence of Senator Call, a federal office was tendered Bob Turner, but his health would not permit him to remain long in the public service. He has left a name that will always be honored and respected by all who knew him. Peace to his ashes.

A SAD DEATH.

Mrs. W. L. Pickett Passes Away at Tiger Bay.

Jonesville, August 15.—The dark angel of death entered the home of W. L. Pickett at Tiger Bay, Fla., on last Saturday evening about four o'clock, and bore away on its pinions the spirit of his beloved wife, Mrs. Thelma Pickett. The body was brought here last Monday and the funeral services were conducted by Rev. G. T. Taylor Tuesday morning about ten o'clock. Mrs. Pickett was a native of Georgia. She moved to Lakeland with her parents about seven years ago, later moving to Tiger Bay. There she met and loved the worthy Mr. Pickett, and on the second day of September last she became his bride. They came and made their home here until March, when they decided to locate at her former home. On the 3rd. inst., a sweet little girl came to their home, and the hopes of her loved ones were high until Thursday, when the physician pronounced her death near at hand. The baby is doing nicely. Deceased was about twenty years old and was a member of the Methodist church. She numbered her friends by her acquaintances, having one of the sweetest of dispositions. She leaves to mourn her death a loving husband, a mother and father, three sisters and one brother, besides other relatives and innumerable friends, to whom the sympathy of this whole community is extended.

HAS PURCHASED HOME.

Mrs. Mershan of Fernandina Will Educate Her Children Here.

So favorably impressed has Mrs. Judge Mershan of Fernandina become with Gainesville and its educational advantages, both in the higher and lower degrees, that the lady has purchased a desirable home and, with her family, will reside here in future.

Mrs. Mershan had read and heard a great deal about Gainesville, its religious and educational advantages, morals, etc., and last week decided to pay the city a visit and see for herself. The result was that she purchased the Orr property, opposite the University grounds, and as soon as arrangements can be made will come here to live.

Mrs. Mershan has two sons, one of whom will enter the University, and the other the Gainesville Graded and High School.

The citizens of Gainesville will gladly welcome this estimable lady and her family.

THE CITY'S DEEP WELL.

Contractor Allen Making Good Headway at Water Works.

As has already been mentioned in the proceedings of the City Council, the city has entered into a contract with J. L. Allen, a practical well borer, for the sinking of a deep well at the plant of the water works, and the work has already begun on the same.

This well will be twelve inches in diameter, and is calculated to relieve the scarcity of water which has alarmed the city and annoyed the consumers from time to time.

The contract price on this job is $2.50 per foot, and it is not yet determined how deep it will be necessary to go. It is not the intention of the city to produce a flowing stream.

MARTHA PERRY INSTITUTE.

This Building Will Undergo Thorough Overhauling and Repair.

The good people of Rochelle are determined not to be outdone by other school districts of the county, with the result that they have decided to thoroughly overhaul and repair Martha Perry Intsitute building, which has for years been recognized as one of the leading schools of the county.

The board of trustees, comprising J. A. Tucker, chairman, J. K. Feaster and Bruce Zetrouer, are among the most progressive in the county. The board will personally supervise the work, and when the fall term opens old Martha Perry will loom up handsomely with her new coat of paint and other improvements.

The Dutton Bank.

Attention is directed to the change of advertisement of the Dutton Bank, which appears elsewhere in this issue.

This is one of the strongest financial institutions in the country, and announces that it is the oldest bank in Central Florida, having been established by H. F. Dutton & Co. in 1873. The institution is conducted by a conservative set of officials who are as liberal as possible to all customers.

The Dutton Bank has a paid-up capital of $75,000, and is a county and city depository.

A Surprise Party.

The little friends of Miss Ruth Jernigan, upon the occasion of her birthday, tendered her a surprise party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Jernigan, East Gainesville, Thursday evening, and for an hour or more the Jernigan home was one of clatter and merriment.

The evening was passed in a manner appropriate to the occasion, and during the evening delicious refreshments were served.

About fifteen were present, and all report a delightful time.

Mr. Turner and the Rattler.

W. S. Turner of Micanopy was in the city Friday, renewing his subscription to The Sun.

Mr. Turner, on last Sunday, while returning from church, came in contact with a six-foot rattlesnake, which he proceeded to dispatch without ceremony. His snakeship possessed twelve rattles and the customary button, which Mr. Turner brought as evidence of the truthfulness of his story.

Richmond a Mr. Angel has just gone to the penitentiary. He evidently has not been living up to his name.

Gen. Finley G. Knight of Tampa has returned from Hot Springs, Ark., where he went for the benefit of his health. He says his health is greatly improved.

The St. Louis baggage smasher who dropped a trunk containing dynamite may recover, but if he does the baggage handle trunks as if they contained eggs.

Current quotations of one dollar per bushel is the most profitable crop produced in Florida. But this is not the season, as we are informed that corn is selling in Tampa at two dollars per bushel.

The following is the tax levy for Alachua county purposes for the year 1907: General purposes, 14 mills; public school bonds, 4 mills; educational bonds, 3 mills; municipal bonds, 1 mill; fire department (only on property within the limit of a fire plug), 3 mills. Total 25 mills.

The proposition of a Georgia legislator to tax newspaper publishers one per cent. of their gross receipts was defeated in committee by only one vote, the chairman breaking the tie vote. There are not many publishers in Florida who would object to such a tax upon the "net" receipts.

Frank C. Dunn, secretary of the Florida Railroad Commission, has sold his Madison County Recorder to J. B. Penland. The latter gentleman is an experienced newspaper man and will devote his entire time to the business. The Sun regrets the retirement of Mr. Dunn, but welcomes Mr. Penland as the new editor.

The County Commissioners of Hillsborough finally won out in their efforts to compel the lessee of county prisoners to put Harry Bomford at work in the convict camp, instead of allowing him to retain his position with Knight & Wall in Tampa. The commissioners are to be commended for the determined stand they took in the case.

Senator Mallory again reminds his friends that he is a candidate for re-election. His health has greatly improved during the past few months and he will meet his opponents on the field of battle. If the people do not return Mallory to the United States Senate they will be guilty of base ingratitude, for they never had a more faithful or more able representative in the upper branch of Congress.

The Prohibition League of Escambia county has petitioned the Board of County Commissioners to call a wet and dry election to be held the latter part of September. If Escambia county should go dry those engaged in the whiskey business in the few other counties of the State where the traffic is now licensed might just as well close out and move elsewhere, or engage in some other business. The result will be awaited with great interest throughout the State.

THE NEWSPAPER BUSINESS.

A contemporary says there are over 23,000 newspapers in the United States and yet there is no other branch of business in regard to which such dense ignorance prevails as to cost and profit of production.

This is a matter which is fast becoming of public concern, for the character of the American press and its future influence as the protector of American liberty depends upon it.

Some extremely important facts bearing upon the cost of publishing newspapers in the city of New York have recently been given in a brief submitted by Mr. John Norris, on behalf of the publishers. Mr. Norris is an acknowledged expert upon the subject of which he writes, having long been connected with the business departments of leading New York and Philadelphia newspapers. He has made an exhaustive investigation and his brief is a document of extraordinary significance.

Mr. Norris does not hesitate to say that there is now impending over the daily newspaper press of New York the most serious menace that ever confronted it. This is strong language, and yet his statement of facts seems to warrant it. An additional burden of $3,000,000 a year in the expense account of sixteen daily newspapers constitutes the menace of which Mr. Norris speaks, but there is a larger menace than that back of these figures, of which account will be given later on. This $3,000,000 a year of added expense includes $2,160,000 for white paper, $600,000 additional for compositors, $200,000 additional for stereotypers, and $100,000 additional for other labor. Mr. Norris declares that no more than four papers out of the sixteen which he represents could make both ends meet upon such terms. He adds that those sixteen papers pay $1,500,000 a year tribute to organized labor—that is to say, that is the additional cost of a closed shop over an open one. He is not antagonizing the closed shop, the principle of which he accepts, but he asks how long the newspapers will be able to meet these additional charges upon them. "We are," he says, "approaching that limit where our necessities may force us to stop."

Here are some additional facts picked at random from Mr. Norris' brief: Ninety per cent. of all newspaper circulation in New York City is on the one-cent basis. The sale of advertising space is also on a declining gate. Since 1895 the earning power per column of most of the New York papers has been reduced. A powerful combination of dry goods merchants has operated to reduce the line charge. This dry goods combination stayed out of The World for seven months, boycotted The Sun at the time of its labor trouble, and has been out of The Times for about four years. When The New York World reduced the price of its paper from 2 cents to 1 cent, it gained 90,000 circulation in three weeks, but gave up $1,000 a day, $312,000 a year in revenue, and added at least $500 a day to its expenses. That meant a loss of $450,000 a year in gross revenue. Mr. Norris went on to say that The New York Times is prospering, but that the fact was painfully evident that its profit for a long period would not pay for the additional cost on its new building, which was put upon it by the many unions in fights to which The Times was not a party. These fights added $538,000 to the cost of construction. The Herald is a 3-cent paper and can afford many extravagances and submit to many exactions, but there are extremes beyond which 1-cent papers cannot go. The demands, he declared, are verging upon the point of putting up some newspaper shutters. The New York World pays out $2,500,000 a year for labor. This is at the rate of $50,000 a week, and the remarkable fact is stated that there are 1,000 men now on its pay roll who receive over $1,500 a year. The news dealers make a profit of $1,500,000 every year from its sale. The smallest share of returns goes to the newspaper capital. Mr. Norris goes on to add that the daily newspaper business is the most precarious venture that can be devised. The most prosperous in the city spends 80 per cent. of its revenue in its operating expenses, while most of the papers show deficits. The newspaper percentage of profit is less than that of any other manufacturing enterprise. For every $1,000 of increased business gained by at least one paper more than $1,000 has been paid out to get it. In a period of ten years The New York World's expenses increased 40 per cent. and its earning power decreased fully as much.

Such facts as these are staggering. Unless conditions change they point to very important changes in the character of the newspaper press. The liberty of the press is one of the safeguards of our civilization. It is essential under such a form of government as we possess that the independence of the press should be preserved. Independence is best maintained by the operation of newspapers for profit. Any other method of operation simply means a subsidized press.

Joseph Pulitzer, when he learned the cost of cutting down the price of his paper from 2 cents to 1 cent, declared, "we prefer power to profit." Either a newspaper is to be conducted for profit or else it becomes dependent upon some rich man like Mr. Pulitzer, who is willing to conduct it for the power it gives him, or else upon some rich man like Mr. Hearst for the political opportunity which it affords, or else the newspaper must be subsidized by the great corporations and become not the independent organ of public opinion, but the subsidized organ of corporation interest. This is the greater menace.

NEGRO PRISONERS AND WHITE.

The Atlanta Constitution says a special report on the number of prisoners and juvenile delinquents in institutions of detention and correction in this country presents several facts of more than ordinary interest.

For instance, Dr. Roland P. Falkner, special agent of the bureau of the census, who instituted the work, and John Koren, who carried it on, has discovered:

1. More negro prisoners than whites in proportion to population.

2. The negro prisoners are more youthful.

3. The proportion of women prisoners is decreasing.

While the total number of negro prisoners committed during the year 1904 was less than the total number of whites, the proportion was greater.

The number of colored prisoners amounted to only 16.4 of the whole, but according to the census of 1900 the colored people formed only 12.1 per cent. of the population. Of the 149,691 prisoners, there were in 1904, 125,093 whites and 24,598 colored. Among the colored people are included 186 Mongolians and 714 Indians.

There should be in proportion to population, eight white criminals to one colored.

The report shows that the colored prisoners were responsible for nearly one-third of the more serious crimes for which prisoners were committed.

These conditions are not confined to the South, but hold good in every section except in Arizona and North Dakota, where the colored population is composed chiefly of Indians.

In discussing the age of prisoners, the report recites that 60 per cent. of those of known age committed during the year 1904 were between 20 and 40 years, and that 71 per cent. of the negroes were under 30 years of age.

This is further substantiation of the belief held throughout the South that the younger generation of negroes are more idle, shiftless and criminal than those born before the war. Whether due to heredity or environment, this fact remains. Whether the criminal instinct develops earlier in the negro; or whether the present condition of family life among the races, the lack of discipline which surrounded them in former days, has served to make criminals of the younger negroes, is an academic question. The records prove that the proportion of negro prisoners is greater, they commit most of the more serious crimes and the average age of the criminal is younger than for the whites.

IN THE LONG RUN.

However often the government, backed by popular conviction, says The Wall Street Journal, may fail in bringing to justice classes of enterprise which flourish in disregarding law, it is still true that in the long run the fight for honesty and openness in corporate management will be won by the State, in favor of the people.

The history of all struggles is, in accordance with this conclusion, that in the beginning the advantage may seem to be, as they apparently are now, with the accused corporation, because the difficulty in obtaining convicting evidence of wrong doing. But failure bears its own fruit in suggesting other methods of attack, by which the offenders may be prosecuted with still more certainty of success. Gradually it becomes clearer that as the people gave the corporations their right to exist, they can, with equal propriety, take it away from them if that existence is in itself a peril to public welfare. If the laws and the constitutions do not seem now to admit of such a course of action, public opinion will see that the laws are changed so as to admit of depriving of life any form of enterprise which may be deemed dangerous to the material, moral, and political existence of the State.

The struggle now going on is not a new one. It is as old as modern history, and in practically every case where corporations of any particular character have made themselves a peril, they have undergone a shearing of power to the point which enabled the State to chain the dragon. It was precisely so with the monastic corporations of the middle ages. It was equally so of monopolies in Elizabethan England, and it will be no less so of the corporations of modern Europe and America, unless they see fit to conform to what is legally defined as right in competition.

IT DESERVES NO MERCY.

The following from The Live Oak Democrat expresses the sentiment of The Sun regarding the illicit sale of whiskey:

"The blind tiger is a stealthy and dangerous beast living in direct defiance of the law and in contemptuous disregard of the expressed will of the community. It is a standing challenge the most insolent character to that community, to its officers and to every law-abiding instinct in its people. It is concrete lawlessness, an unmixed evil of the most exasperating character, a shameless and habitual criminal, and there is no plea that can be set up in extenuation of its vile presence. Like the striped tiger of the jungle from which it takes its name, it is as pitiless as death, a standing menace to the peace and safety of the community and there is no trick or device on the part of an insulted and endangered town and its officers that is not warranted in order to lure the beast into the toils of the law, and, once there, teach it a stern lesson it will never forget. The blind tiger is a coarse, thick-headed animal without honor or conscience, with a certain low cunning as a substitute for brains, and the only gospel it heeds is the gospel of force. It despises law except when it takes the concrete form of an officer on its trail, and the latter should have behind him at all times a vigilant and courageous public sentiment not afraid to speak its mind, in his arduous task of running down the cruel beast that is the enemy of every home in the community and demoralizes young and old alike by its evil example of unpunished lawlessness."

ARMY DISORGANIZED.

Commenting on the recent dismissal of Colonel Ayres from the army, The Houston (Texas) Post remarks:

"From the rise to power of General Corbin, during the McKinley administration, the official roster of the army has undergone many changes due to executive favoritism and the intrigues of the war department's bureaucracy. Many soldiers who served with distinction in the Civil and Indian wars, as well as in the Spanish-American war, were summarily retired or denied promotion in order that rank fakirs like Leonard Wood might be advanced beyond their merits. Soldiers who resented such ill treatment, as Schley resented it in the navy, have been given the "hot end of the poker," to use the modern vernacular, and their efforts to obtain justice have not availed because the power that dominated the war department has likewise dominated the legislative department of the government."

The case of General Miles is also memorable. The army has been so completely demoralized by the military quackery of Roosevelt and his satellites, that it needs a complete reorganization.

The Madison Recorder thinks Senator James E. Broome is too old to be Governor. On the contrary, The Sun believes he is of that mature age which exactly fits him for the State's chief magistrate.

Cortelyou has the gift of silence. He also has the grace of resignation, when it comes to accepting the next higher job.

FROM THE PAGES OF FLORIDA PAPERS.

Down and Out.

The Daily State of Montgomery, Ala., passed into the hands of a receiver yesterday. The paper started publication on May 26, and was beset with the many difficulties to which every new journal is subjected in these days of competition. As stated editorially in The Sunday Daily State, the expense of starting the paper exceeded its income, and it failed to receive the endorsement and support of the public as was expected by the stockholders.—Pensacola Journal.

Beautifying the Plaza.

One of the most striking illustrations of what can be done in the way of beautifying the city is the great change which has taken place in the appearance of the Plaza. Six weeks ago the park was filled with dead grass, leaves and trash, and presented anything but a beautiful sight. Today, the grass is green and the walks neatly trimmed. Flowers and shrubbery are located in well-selected places and now attract attention from every visitor. Let the good work go on. What has been done here can be done elsewhere.—Pensacola Journal.

Conspiring Against Law.

Every thoughtful citizen each day must become more and more impressed with the insufficient, unequal and desultory enforcement of law throughout the United States. The man with the money and the man with the pull have justice, so to speak, by the nose, and strangle her in the performance of her duty. The Tribune regrets to note that Florida is very far from being an exception to the rule, and its laws and institutions are being constantly disgraced by a lamentably lax system of administering the legal statutes.

We do not say that the courts of law are altogether at fault in this respect. Indeed, the fault lies more at the door of those whose duty it is to carry out the findings of the courts than at that of the courts themselves. There is an ever increasing effort on the part of criminals to evade the punishment which the courts have decreed they should suffer, and these efforts grow more and more successful each succeeding year. From the State Pardoning Board down to the local constables there appears to be an understanding that every advantage should be given the guilty to escape serving a just sentence and that the reign of law is inimical to the interests of the community, and the State. And, truly, when convicted thieves, through some specious pretext, are permitted to show their brazen faces in daily intercourse with respectable people of a community; when convicted murderers may walk unmolested and safe from the enforcement of their sentence; when malefactors, both great and small, may, through a little shrewdness on the part of their lawyers, combined with a public tolerance altogether inexplicable, foolish and wrong, snap their fingers at the jail locks that should snap on them, there comes to us an omnious foreboding that something is radically wrong—something way down at the bottom of things—that requires instant and most drastic remedial treatment.

The existence of this condition, bordering on the chaotic, is the shame of the land. It is the shame of Florida. How may we justly rail against the infernal and anarchical nightmare men call the "unwritten law" so long as we fail to compel our courts to act with promptitude in the trial and conviction of criminals and the officers of the law to use instant precision in carrying out the sentences of the courts? Men speak of the "majesty of the law." Such an expression is becoming as sarcasm, we regret to say; and many in high places are assisting in casting this indignity upon our most sacred institution of mortal goverance. Unless the public mind awakens and insists upon a reform of methods, it will not be long before the law will be shorn of its robes of majesty and dressed in the garb of a buffoon.—Tampa Tribune.

It is possible, says The New York Commercial, that there are, as Jesse Grant claims, four million Democrats fit to be president. Now if any large proportion of them would stop voting Republican tickets, some of them might reach the White House.

Charles Perkins of Ocala was in the city yesterday. Mr. Perkins is a paving contractor, and has a contract for several miles of cement sidewalk paving in the Brick City. The sidewalks will be of the same nature as those laid in Gainesville.

C. O. Robison of Kirkwood was transacting business in this city yesterday. Mr. Robison a few months ago removed from his home in Mississippi to Kirkwood, having purchased valuable property there, and he is well pleased with the change.

The First National Bank furnishes an interesting change of advertisement in this issue of The Sun. This bank advertises as the oldest bank in the county, and for years has enjoyed the reputation of being under the most conservative management.

Mr. and Mrs. Judson Jones and children or Rocky Point have returned to their home, after a couple of months spent in Washington, D. C., Mr. Jones' old home. They report a delightful time, and Mr. Jones says he now feels ready to "go to work" again.

Henry Elliott, an energetic colored farmer of the Rutledge section, who is one of The Sun's oldest subscribers, called at this office yesterday and renewed his subscription. "Uncle" Henry is one of the progressive of his race, and every year harvests fine crops.

Prof. W. H. Cassels returned yesterday from a brief visit to friends in Alachua. Prof. Cassels, who will be the principal of the County Summer Normal, which will open Monday, has had charge of the Alachua school for the past two terms, with excellent success.

The Gainesville National Bank has a change of advertisement in this issue which will prove interesting reading. See the ad., catch on to the suggestion, and act accordingly. The Gainesville National is new, but it's solid, and the management promises something interesting in its first statement.

Mrs. T. B. Ellis, Sr., is spending a few days at Waldo with her daughter, Mrs. Charles A. Marks. Mr. Marks, who is a conductor on the Seaboard, is now on his annual vacation and is visiting his parents at his former home in Montana. He writes that the temperature is too low for comfort, and he regrets that he did not take his overcoat.

Mrs. S. B. Rogers wrote Friday evening to a friend that her husband, Rev. S. B. Rogers, is recovering from the operation he had performed in Atlanta, quite rapidly, and while the case was most difficult and dangerous, due to other complications, the surgeons say that complete recovery to perfect health seems assured, and, after a few weeks he will be able to return to his church, which will be a welcome day to all of his friends in the city.

Conductor LeBarron, one of the most popular bell-cord yankers in the employ of the Atlantic Coast Line, is now in charge of the High Springs-Citra run, having relieved Conductor Charles R. Carter, who expects to take his annual vacation of a month. Captain LeBarron has been in the employ of the A. C. L. for several years, and has many friends in this section among the traveling public who are glad to welcome him to this territory again.

THE BEST TIMBER TREES.

How the Government Studies Them for the Benefit of Forest Owners.

Timber owners and manufacturers will be interested in the results of the detailed studies of commercial timber trees which the Forest Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture is making. These studies are not confined exclusively to the well-known trees of recognised value, but, owing to the rapid decrease in the supply of our valuable woods, include those cheaper woods whose properties are imperfectly known. Such studies of the tupelo gum and western hemlock have done much to overcome the common prejudice against these species and have added considerably to their commercial importance.

Commercial tree studies begin with the tree in the forest and follow it all the way to the finished product in the market. The intermediate steps are many and complex, but a little consideration of them may not be amiss, since they typify the field methods of forest investigation.

The selection of a suitable place is the first step. In this the aim is to obtain average conditions as far as possible. When the range of the species to be studied is small, one locality may be sufficient, but generally it is necessary to take at least two localities, the data from which, if similar, can be thrown together or, if materially unlike, kept separate for different regions within the range of the species. For example, the yellow poplar or tulip-tree, has a very wide range, but a study of its growth and habits would show very different results in the North and in the South.

Before starting at the rate of growth of the trees, the annual rings on the stump are counted and the distance from each tenth ring is accurately measured. In other words, beginning at the bark of the stump, the rings are counted inward along the average radius which is obtained by actual measurement and indicated by a pencil line. The layers of ten rings are marked all along this line and then connected to each mark from the bark of the pith is measured and recorded. Additional data as to the thickness of sapwood and heartwood, the width of the bark, the diameter of the stump, and so forth, are recorded at the same time. These data are taken for a great many trees in order to secure a fair average.

The stump shows the growth of the tree inside the bark at the stump height. In order to add to diameter growth outside bark at breastheight (4½ feet above the ground), the taper of the average tree must be known. This is found by measuring the diameter of a great many trees at 1, 2, 3, etc., feet above the ground and averaging the results. The bark thickness is already known, so that all that is necessary is to add to it the diameter obtained for growth inside the bark and subtract the loss through taper between stumpheight and breastheight.

As a rule a number of seedlings are measured to find out how long they have taken to reach stumpheight. By adding this period to the age of the average tree on the stump the measurement of the height growth of the average tree is complete. This would not be the case except for a uniformity in tree growth. A given point on the trunk never moves upward with the growth of the tree. Only the tip grows, and a nail driven into the trunk at a given height will hold the same height always.

The taper measurements also serve as a guide for fixing the proper height of stump in felling, so as to avoid waste but still get above the stump-spreading peculiar to some species.

Frequently, felled trees are measured, noting the diameter breasthigh, the length or distance without branches, the "clear" and actual merchantable lengths, and the total height of the tree. Where this is done in conjunction with the stump analyses, a table of age and height is readily made from the table of age and breasthigh diameter already explained.

In order to apply the tables described, the stand on average acres of different types of land is determined by means of sample plots, usually of an acre each, on which the diameter of every tree is carefully measured and tallied. The future yield on average acres is then figured out from the diameter growth tables and tabulated by decades.

Cutting over an area often markedly increases the growth of the remaining trees, so that a separate yield table is frequently made for second growth after lumbering. This forms an excellent basis for an estimate of the future stand on logged areas.

Besides the more purely technical matters of the life history of the tree; the best methods of management and reproduction; the distribution of the species; the soundness; the damage by fire, wind, insects and fungi; and the general form and development of the species, a study of the methods of lumbering is undertaken, especially as regards waste and damage to young growth.

Finally, a market study is made throughout the range of the species. Figures are obtained by measurement at some mill of the actual cut and grade in board feet of the logs from trees previously marked in the woods. From these measurements the actual value of trees of all diameters is found. The present uses of the timber are looked up, and the practicability of extending its uses or substituting it for other species is considered. In connection with this, timber tests of the wood are made at one of the government timber testing laboratories.

To sum up, every detail and aspect of the problem receives careful attention in these commercial tree studies, since it is their special object to set forth all facts that will assist forest owners in managing and improving their timber lands.

S.S.S. NATURE'S TONIC

Every one should take a tonic in the Spring; their systems require it. The blood has become thick and sluggish with the accumulations left in the system from the inactive, indoor life and from the heavy, rich foods of the Winter season. The blood, being in this unnatural and disordered condition, is unable to furnish the body with the increased amount of nourishment necessary for the more energetic life of Spring and Summer, and the system suffers from debility, weakness, nervousness, indigestion, loss of appetite, and many other unpleasant symptoms of a disordered blood circulation. When the system is in this run-down and disordered condition it is not safe to take unknown concoctions, sarsaparillas, compounds, etc., because they usually contain potash or some other equally strong and harmful mineral ingredient, which acts unfavorably and often dangerously on the depleted, weakened system at a time when it needs gentle and natural stimulation to throw off the impurities and recuperate its lost energy. S. S. S. is appropriately called Nature's tonic. It is made entirely of roots, herbs and barks from the great storehouse of forest and field, selected for their purifying and health-restoring qualities, and as it does not contain the slightest trace of mineral in any form it is perfectly safe for young or old. S. S. S. acts directly on the blood, ridding it of all impurities and poisons, and restoring the lost properties of rich, nutritive strength so that it is able to supply the system with the healthful, invigorating energy needed to pass the trying season of the year. Its action is the most pleasant, prompt and satisfactory of all tonics, and those who feel the need of such a medicine will do well to commence the use of S. S. S. at once. S. S. S. restores lost energy, relieves the tired, worn-out feeling, helps the appetite, aids digestion, and adds tone and vigor to the system. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

Because, it is alleged, that Charles Williams, colored, persisted in abusing his wife, and actually struck her, he was arrested and arraigned in Mayor's court Thursday morning on a charge of fighting, when the court imposed a fine of $5 and costs. The fine was paid and the defendant released.

Matters have been distressingly quiet with Marshal Arnow and his force for the past two days, the officers having little or nothing to keep them employed. This speaks well for the orderly conduct of the city.

SILAS FOMAN IN NEW YORK CITY

Old Florida Negro Snake-Charmer Claims To Be a Mexican.

LETTER FROM THE GOVERNOR.

Exhibits Snakes to Curious Crowd—People Astounded When He Allowed Big Florida Rattler to Bite Him on the Hands.

From The Times-Union.

Silas Foman, the old negro snake-charmer, who has resided in Jacksonville for many years, interesting the tourists during the winter months by giving exhibitions in front of the hotels with various kinds of native reptiles, and who has claimed for years that he has an absolute cure for snake bite, is now in New York where he is attracting much attention.

Sunday's New York World contained quite a lengthy account of Silas Foman, and his career with snakes, but in no portion of the article does it state that Foman is from Jacksonville, and that the snakes now in his possession are native Florida rattlesnakes. Together with the article The World presents a picture of Foman, which is a good likeness of the old negro.

The story as published in The World, is as follows:

New York Story.

"Silas Foman believes he has a snake-bite cure better than the old fashioned kind that 'your father used before you.' It is liquid, too, and is prescribed for internal use in extreme necessity, but even the promoter admits that 'old Kaintuck' excels the remedy in flavor.

"He made a wry face when he took two fingers of his own medicine last week, following a thrilling attack by a seven-foot diamond back rattler. The sensation was not scheduled on the entertainment program provided by Foman on the lawn of Frank D. Ketchum's residence, at Avenue U. near East Fifth street, Brooklyn.

Not a Mexican.

"Foman comes from Mexico, where he was born of an Indian father and a Mexican mother. Some one told him that the Government has a standing reward for the discovery of a snakebite remedy which cures but does not inebriate, and he came East in the expectation of holding an audience with President Roosevelt and prove that he is entitled to the reward. On behalf of Foman, Lawyer Henry Stengel, of No. 44 Court street, has written to the President at Oyster Bay asking if it is his pleasure to witness a cure from snakebite.

"The rattler which Foman brought with him from Mexico is not of the venomous charmer brand. It has fangs as big as wisdom teeth, and a Long Island snake expert who doubted the genuineness of the reptile inspected the poison sacks and declared he wouldn't use the rattler in his show for $1,000.

Handled Snakes.

"Foman was mighty cautious in handling the snake when a neighborhood audience formed in a circle on the lawn to see the show. He was careful to keep out of striking distance except when he manoeuvered for to seize the rattler by the neck. The reptile struck repeatedly at his shod Mexican boots, and he struck it with his silver-tipped sombrero held on the end of a stick.

He was preparing to move the rattler to the box, when Mr. Ketchum asked a question. Foman was taken off his guard for an instant. The rattler's head and body darted forward. Foman uttered a cry of pain and raised his right hand as he leaped back. The spectators fled in terror.

Used His Cure.

A physician who was present examined Foman's hand and saw blood flowing from three lacerations on the thumb. The Mexican took a bottle containing cure from his pocket and quickly washed the wounds. He called for cotton, and when it was brought to him he saturated it with the remedy and bound his hand. When the hand began to swell he had recourse to external application of the medicine, and an hour later the only ill effects apparent were the lacerated wounds. He removed from one wound a curved fang which had been torn off by the rattler in the attack. Foman said Indian, an Indian chief, im-

It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work and in private practice, and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root and how to find out if your trouble is kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all good druggists. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root, and the address Binghamton, N. parted to him the secret of brewing the cure from native herbs and bark.

Letter From Governor.

"Foman has letters from Governor Broward of Florida, who is a believer in the efficacy of the cure and from physicians in Mexico who have used it successfully. He asserts that it is also a specific for hydrophobia.

"'I am anxious to have an official test made by the government,' Foman said yesterday, 'and if the cure proves all I claim for it I am in hopes the Government will adopt it. I will submit to attacks from any snakes the Government may provide and prove that my medicine will cure the bites.'"

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, Better Than Three Doctors.

"Three years ago we had three doctors with our little boy and everything that they could do seemed in vain. At last when all hope seemed to be gone we began using Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and in a few hours he began to improve. Today he is as healthy a child as parents could wish for."—MRS. B. J. JOHNSTON, Linton, Miss. For sale by all druggists.

A Prominent Visitor.

Among the prominent visitors to Gainesville Friday was Hon. S. W. Rowley of San Mateo, the beautiful little town by the St. Johns, a few miles below Palatka.

Mr. Rowley is an extensive grower of tobacco and manufacturer of cigars. He is also connected with the immigration department of the Florida East Coast Railway, and has accomplished a great deal in building up that section of the State.

Mr. Rowley is one of the leading Republicans of the State, and has made himself felt in the political arena of Putnam county, where he has great influence.

Will Move to St. Petersburg.

While nothing authentic could be learned, it is rumored that A. S. Hull, the trustee of Rylander, will shortly go to St. Petersburg, where place he will make his future home.

Mr. Hull is not only one of the most successful trustees, but one of the most desirable citizens in all the section, and his friends will regret very much to see him leave.

It's Now Papa Robertson.

Friends in this city have received information to the effect that a fine son has been born to Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Robertson, the latter formerly of Gainesville, now residents of Miami. Congratulations.
